Campervan Australia Hire guarantees great deals when it comes to providing a fun-filled and fulfilling holiday, whilst ensuring that your overall accommodation expenses remain well in your control. With a wide variety of campervan hire Perth, camper trailers and motor homes on offer, some research and preparation would not be amiss as you prepare to set off on a well-deserved vacation.

If you plan to be on the road for most of your vacation, stopping regularly at motels might be a necessity. These would charge specific fares and tariffs that would eat into your budget. In this case, opting for a luxury campervan might be a good idea for it comes equipped with a shower and an on-board toilet. While it will cost more than a regular camper hire Perth, the additional amenities provided would compare favourably with the charges levied by a motel. In case you prefer something within your budget, other campervans that include a kitchen or cooking area, utensils, tents, sleeping blankets etc. can also be hired.

Given this backdrop, it might be worthwhile listing some points that would need to be considered when hiring a campervan.

- Settle on the number of people who would be travelling. This will be essential in determining the number of beds required.
- When renting a motor home, try and opt for the next berth up so as to have ample space; this could avert the need of having to assemble/reassemble the dining and kitchen areas.
- Decide on the facilities you need i.e. shower, toilet, kitchen, heating, gas heating etc.
- Decide on the length of the trip and also on the amount of time that would be spent travelling.
- Plan the route so as to avoid snags during the trip as certain roads could have restrictions in terms of size and width.
- Check your campsites beforehand to ensure that it can accommodate the size of the campervan you plan to hire.
- Ensure that the rental company provides 24-hour roadside assistance in case of breakdowns.
- Plan your vacation in advance so as to get a bigger discount, thereby providing you with more money to add to your vacation kitty.
- Go through the terms and conditions of the hire meticulously.

American writer, Shirley Jackson, wrote: "It has long been my belief that in times of great stress – such as a 4-day vacation – the thin veneer of family wears off almost at once, and we stand revealed in our true personalities". While this observation may be true – especially when family and friends remain closeted together for long stretches of time, the fact remains that vacationing with friends and family can be a lot more fun than vacationing alone. When the campervan you've hired provides you with enough comfort and amenities, one tends to gloss over the small incidents that could mar the vacation. It remains the reason why we stress on the questions listed above, to ensure that your vacation remains a memorable occasion for all of you.
